

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

Methods and compositions suitable for accomplishing the in vitro amplification of nucleic acid molecules via enzymatic means are provided. The preferred means employ 5 circular rather than linear replicons. Means for producing such circular replicons from linear reactants are also provided.